FROM THE DESK OF PASTOR FISHER

Psalms 139:13-16(ESV) ¹³For you formed my inward parts; you knitted me together in my mother's womb. ¹⁴I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Wonderful are your works; my soul knows it very well. ¹⁵My frame was not hidden from you, when I was being made in secret, intricately woven in the depths of the earth. ¹⁶Your eyes saw my unformed substance; in your book were written, every one of them, the days that were formed for me, when as yet there were none of them.

Greeting in the Name God, I pray that this Newsletter reaches you and yours having a wonderful summer. On Sunday mornings the adult Bible class continues in the book of psalms, and our extended VBS continues to teach children of all ages about Jesus during the Sunday school hour. The Wednesday night class will continue the first Wednesday after Labor and our topics will be looking at the Doctrine of Creation and then Angels and Demons. On Thursdays and Sunday afternoon Pastor Raffa is leading a study in the book of Colossians. I pray you can find the time in your very busy schedules to join us for these studies.

God bless,
Rev. Joseph M. Fisher (Heb. 12:1-2)

I want to make sure that everyone had an opportunity to read President Harrison's response to the SCOTUS abortion decision.

Harrison Responds to SCOTUS Abortion Decision

Synod President reflects on High Court ruling invalidating Texas law protecting the health and safety of expectant mothers and their babies.

The United States Supreme Court ruled today that 58 million aborted babies is not enough. Our national sin of abortion now dwarfs the atrocities of the genocide of 6 million Jews by the Nazis, and the extermination of 20 million Christians by the Soviet Union. I can find no other words to describe this disgrace than those of Hermann Sasse directed at the Nazi regime:

The lie is the death of man, his temporal and his eternal death. The lie kills nations. Through their lies, the most powerful empires of the world were laid waste. History knows of no more unsettling spectacle than the judgment which comes to pass when the men of an advanced culture have rejected the truth, and are now swallowed up in a sea of lies. As was the case with fading pagan antiquity, where this happened, religion and law, poetry and philosophy, life in marriage and family, in the state and society, in short, one sphere of life after another, fell sacrifice to the power and curse of the lie.

Where man can no longer bear the truth, he cannot live without the lie. Where man, even when dying, lies to himself and others, the terrible dissolution of his culture is held up as a glorious ascent, and decline is viewed as an advance, the like of which has never been experienced. Union and Confession, 1936

O Lord Jesus, author and source of life, cast us not away because of our sins. Change the minds and hearts of the people of this nation, waning under moral ambiguity. Uphold your Church wherever it stands for life. Give us repentance where Christians have failed to speak and act and vote for life. Help us to continue to care for the least, the last, the needy, the downtrodden, and especially those who have succumbed to the lie. We plead it for your sake. Amen.

The Rev. Dr. Matthew C. Harrison
President, The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod

Pro-Life Identity STEPHANIE NEUGEBAUER, DIRECTOR, LIFE AND HEALTH MINISTRIES OFFICE OF NATIONAL MISSION, THE LUTHERAN CHURCH—MISSOURI SYNOD hat does it mean to be pro-life? Is it a way of thinking, a way of acting, a way of reacting? The truth is, being pro-life means lots of different things to different people, depending on whom you ask. For some, the term pro-life stirs up negative images, personal scars and maybe even anger and rage. For others, pro-life is purely a political term. For others still, it is purely a religious term. And for the few, the term pro-life embodies what it means to be a defender of life, for every stage of life. While this term has proven to divide people, states and even country, it is a term we use nonetheless, and one we need not shy away from. At its purest, pro-life simply means to be for life. It means to be an advocate for humanity, a herald for life being lived out in completion. One does not need to be a Christian to be pro-life, as many can argue on purely scientific, philosophical and ethical grounds that human lives matter and the right to live is for young and old. However, Christians are the only ones who can see the complete picture — who can come to the fullest realization about the sanctity of life. We are pro-life because God has created us, impressed on us His image, has sent His Son to redeem us and promises to return to resurrect our bodies. In

His every action, God has shown that He is for life, even in its ugliest and most broken state. Even when we've shown no signs of life, even when we were helpless to help ourselves. When we could contribute nothing to our fellow man. When we were God's enemy. When we were being inconvenient, still God convened His holy Church among us. He rescued us through baptism, rendering us heirs to His kingdom, His goodness and His namesake. Life is sacred, from conception unto natural death, simply because God has declared it so. There is no room for disagreement, because God has placed His yes on us. Even if current science, man's best and greatest philosophy and modern ethics were in every way against us, we would still have all the evidence we need to be pro-life because we are God's people. Yet we praise God for His first article gifts of human reason, human law and human scientific discovery, because they often affirm what God has already revealed to us. Since being pro-life is part of our Christian identity, we must consider what it means to be a proactive advocate for human life. As Lutheran Christians, we should be ever-aware of our various vocations and the realms in which God has called us to serve. But let us go a step further and become aware of whether we are carrying our pro-life identity into each of our vocations. What does it mean to be a pro-life member of the community? What does it look like to be pro-life at work? At school? At home? As the Church? This summer's Notes for Life is committed to answering these questions. I pray you find them edifying and encouraging as you carry out your pro-life identity in all of your blessed vocations! W Since being pro-life is part of our Christian identity, we must consider what it means to be a proactive advocate for human life." Notes for Life Volume 11,

Tyler McMiller-
LCMS Missionary
July 2016

As the month of July continues we are looking forward to some exciting projects. San Pedro and El Buen Pastor will be celebrating their annual VBS, a huge opportunity for outreach in the community while, on a national level, the Lutheran Synod of Mexico continues to prepare for our second consecutive annual youth retreat. The first Sunday of August, Pastor Andrew will begin his ministry in El

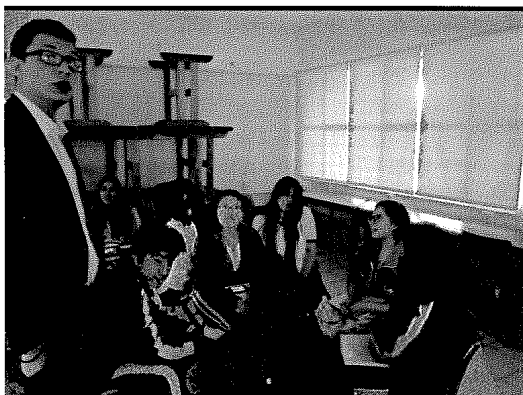

Buen Pastor. We were also able to celebrate a Luther Academy Conference in Guadalajara for the Pastors and seminarians of the Lutheran Synod of Mexico. San Pedro's food kitchen, after three years of CPTLN funding, has been moved to once a month on Sundays and had finally reached its life phase of becoming the financially responsibility of San Pedro. Freeing up Saturdays allows the congregation to develop much needed outreach programs to the community, and moving it to Sundays will force the beneficiaries to come to Church if they want to eat. Making a mercy ministry the responsibility of the native Church body is an essential part of any programs life. Please continue to keep this important ministry in your prayers.

I was able to finish the school year with a presentation on Moral Values to a school neighboring San Pedro. We continue our Tuesday morning Bible study, moving from Law and Gospel to the Letter to the Galatians. In El Buen Pastor we continue working with my guitar students, Erick, Jorge, Jimmy, Angel and giving some tips to Wlyra on the piano. They have come a long way. We still have the goal of them being able to lead the worship service music entirely on their own. To God be the glory.

At our Tuesday morning Bible study, two women named Estela and Elvia began attending. Elvia is a recovering alcoholic, five years sober and Estela is the head of her alcoholic support group. Estela also has had a very difficult life. After the first Bible study Estela, with a Jehovah Witness background, sincerely asked if Jesus was God. Yes, Jesus is God. Opening up the Bible we looked at core passages like Matthew 1:23, Colossians 1:19, John 1 and the Confession of Thomas, John 20:28. Elvia and Estela are both set to begin catechism classes with Pastor Conrad this next Wednesday. To God be the Glory. We give thanks for the doors opened to reach people with the Gospel. We pray. Lord we guide each one of our steps as we continue forward in the preaching, we pray for patience, kindness, wisdom and opportunities to use our talents to reach others.

DAILY LECTIONARY

This outline is a devotional reading plan that covers the entire Sacred Scriptures each year. The selections are based on ancient models and are generally in harmony with the liturgical church year. The average reading is three chapters daily. The lectionary is in accordance with Martin Luther's suggestions: "But let the entire Psalter, divided in parts, remain in use and the entire Scriptures, divided in lections, let this be "Preserved in the ears of the church". Also: "after that another book should be selected, and so on, until the entire Bible has been read through, and where one does not understand it, pass that by and glorify God."

The Latest on Zika...

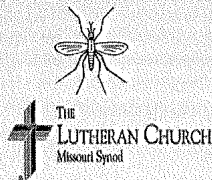

As you can imagine, we've been following the developments on the Zika epidemic. If you, too, are looking for the latest, I recommend the following website: <https://www.cdc.gov/zika/>

While the Center for Disease Control (CDC) will give you up-to-date and accurate information regarding Zika in general, it will also keep close tabs on trends in the United States.

The World Health Organization (WHO) will give you much of the same information, but it will concentrate on the entire international scene as it works closely with the United Nations to develop and mass produce (God willing) a vaccine against Zika. Here is a helpful website: <http://www.who.int/mediacentre/factsheets/zika/en/>

Meanwhile, the LCMS Office of International Mission is completely on top of the epidemic. You may access an official letter to missionaries here: <http://www.lcms.org/missionaries>

¡Feliz Día de la Independencia!

Dear friends, welcome to our June/July newsletter! St. Louis has been hot and humid. Very hot. Very humid. I'm trying not to notice it too much, though, since we will soon be living in a semi-tropical region. Besides, it couldn't be much hotter than St. Louis, right? I certainly hope that all of you are having a nice and peaceful summer. May God grant you peace and quiet, safe travels visiting family, and true rest in God's Word! We invite you to continue following our journey!

"Citizens of Heaven"

It is strange to think that my family and I will be expatriates. That word sounds too much like "ex-patriot," which we will never be. We will always be proud to be Americans. And yet the same Word of God applies to us there as here. God has established all earthly authority to reward those who live peaceably and punish those who do evil. Romans 13:1 says: "Let every soul be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God." Yes, there are many freedoms I will miss. And yet, call it irony or a distinct blessing from God, the invitation stands for us Lutheran missionaries to teach courses on the life of Christ at the local public elementary school in Palmar Arriba. Imagine that! As we are losing religious liberties here in America, opportunities abound overseas. But don't put too much stock in (lack of) religious liberty. No government, no matter how good or bad, can give us the true freedom of gospel, by which the Holy Spirit assures us that for Jesus' sake our debts have been paid, and we have a home with our Father in heaven. Peace of conscience comes from having sins forgiven. Our conscience is free for as long as we are members of Christ's Church. Such freedom is not protected by laws and SCOTUS rulings. Jesus says in John, chapter 19, "My kingdom is not of this world." And St. Paul says: "Our citizenship is in heaven" (Philippians 3:20). We have reason to be optimistic! What a privilege it is to share our Christian freedom with fellow citizens in the Dominican Republic!

Reflections from home...by Jennifer

We are starting to prepare for our departure again, even as we excitedly anticipate the birth of baby #7. The countdown is on again with baby's mid-July due date fast approaching and soon after, God-willing, our departure to Christ's mission field in the Dominican Republic! Our plan is that once baby is born, we will immediately begin the paperwork process including acquiring (apostilled) birth certificate, passport, and finally his visa, after which we can book our flight to Santiago. Barring any unforeseen US and DR government consulate delays, this should take about two months from his birth date.

In the meantime, we are all doing well. The kids are busy with summer activities—still some light homeschooling along with VBS, swimming lessons, and extended playing hours with the longer summer days. David is working diligently pounding out pages of his dissertation—making steady progress to be sure. Jenny is maintaining the home-front and beginning to sort and pack again for the move. That “nesting” phase of preparing for baby has been unique this time around since our family will be making its first international move so soon after his birth. And so we wait patiently, we pray, and we prepare as best we can for the many changes ahead, ever confident that our welfare is in the loving hands of our Heavenly Father who knows our physical, mental, and spiritual needs better than we do!

One blessing about living at missionary housing for this long is that we have been able to meet many other missionary families who are passing through during their home visits, orientation, or support-raising period. It is very encouraging to meet so many other pastors and families who will be bringing the good news of Jesus, our Savior, to people all over the world. I am so looking forward to getting settled in our new home and church!

¡Vaya con Dios!

Go with God! Thank you for your continued prayers and support. We hope you enjoy your summer, and we ask you to stay with your missionary family as we get closer to our departure the Dominican Republic!

In Christ's love,

Rev. David Preus
